[The surgical methods for the treatment of ectopic pregnancy. Historical aspects]. The management of ectopic pregnancy has evolved over the past century, with many changes in surgical techniques. At the beginning of the 20th century, the most frequent form of treatment was salpingectomy. In the 1920s, postoperative complications were common and laparotomy was more frequently required. In the 1950s and 1960s, the preservation of the reproductive system was advocated as the primary surgical treatment. More recently, laparoscopy has become the accepted approach in the management of ectopic pregnancy. The purpose of this review is to examine the indications and efficacy of different surgical techniques currently in use for the treatment of ectopic pregnancy. Q: How to write a regular expression that will return the text from a string up until the first occurrence of a sequence of characters? Assume that myString is a string like this: abcdefg12345. I want a regular expression that will return the string 12345. A: The solution seems to be simple: `$regex = '\G(.*)?(?=\G)'; $replaced = preg_replace($regex, "", $string);` Here is an online demo. Headphone systems A head-mounted display (HMD) is a display that is worn on or around the head. In contrast to devices that sit on the head, see wearable computing, a head-mounted display is fully enclosed in a helmet or mounted on a pair of glasses, goggles, or a forehead-mounted strap, and can in some cases fully enclose the wearer's eyes, face and nose and may use the space behind the eyes as well as visible screen. Headphones Most headphones are worn at the user's ears, while others are worn over the ears. Most are worn around the neck. Headphones allow for private listening, sometimes in conjunction with other audio devices such as a hands-free mobile phone or a dictation system. Most headphones use a dynamic driver for clarity and low distortion. Lower quality headphones may also have a woofer to provide bass, and most sound-enhancing electronics (equalisation, noise cancellation, etc.) reside in the headphones. Some headphones have one or more microphones for hands-free telephone capability, and some form a clip or similar attachment point to attach to a mobile device or other electronic device. Headphones are usually wired and other rounded objects in your images. It can also be used to create realistic shaded areas and make it easier to fill in large regions. Gradient Fill is used to fill large areas using gradients, and also allows you to create gradient brushes that will automatically fill selections. The Hue-Saturation tool can be used to desaturate images (remove the color) by changing the H and S values. You can also use this tool to make parts of an image brighten or darken. The Healing brush uses the Clone Stamp tool to blend one part of an image into another to make objects look better or add missing elements to them. The Lasso tool allows you to draw around areas in your photo that contain objects that you want to select. You can use this tool to paint around objects in your photo, such as a letter, logo, or commercial product. It is also used to cut out portions of an image. The Liquify tool is used to distort, scale, rotate, or change the transparency of an image. It can also be used to brush a faux-brush, brush a range of numbers or a selection, use a Modify option such as "Bloat," or make a selection. The Mosaic tool takes sections of an image, blends them, and then stitches the sections together. The result is a seamless mosaic. To view more

The Gradient tool is used to make rounded corners

1. To open the Lasso tool, choose Home → Lasso (Windows) or Edit → Lasso (Mac), or press the L key.
2. To select a section of an image with the Lasso tool, click a point on the image. To deselect and return to regular selection mode, click anywhere outside the Lasso tool.
3. To move the Lasso tool, click and drag.
4. To change the way the Lasso tool works, choose a new tool from the Toolbox, or press the key combination that is listed in the tool's tooltip.

The tools include: Click to enlarge. The Brush tool is used to paint in an image. It comes in two different types: Direct Selection lets you paint directly over selected areas using a special brush that blends selection colors with foreground colors. The Eraser tool can be used to paint a transparent, semi-transparent, or patterned background over selected areas. The Pencil tool lets you outline and fill selections.
