installed by Windows automatic update according to file size and install method. Over 20 years ago I was on a stage at the Ed Sullivan Theater in New York. The orchestra was playing music for a backdrop of a comic strip I was going to perform. It was my first appearance on stage, and the audience was cheering. I was really nervous and scared, but I stumbled along with my thing. The audience responded and laughed and joined in. And they really liked it. I did another bit, something with a woman and a tin man, and I then returned to the orchestra, which was still playing for the comic strip. I was laughing, and they were still laughing. Then I said "That was really good!" And they laughed even more. They were still really enjoying it. My name was known all over the world, and millions of people were seeing me perform that first time. It was quite wonderful. Isn't that the way
