[San Francisco, USA] - January 4, 2020 - NIS America, Inc. released today the first look at the highly anticipated action role-playing game, Elder Scrolls®: Legends, developed by Bethesda Game Studios in collaboration with: Treyarch Studios (Blacklight) Loading Hammer Inc. (Sniper Elite, Brothers in Arms) Black Tusk Studios (Warhammer 40,000: Eternal Crusade) Chucklefish (Gwent: The Witcher Card Game) Elder Scrolls: Legends looks to build on the success of the Legend's franchise by combining the gameplay and fun that players enjoyed in the first Elder Scrolls Legends game with the immediacy and accessibility of mobile gaming. Elder Scrolls: Legends was announced at E3 2019 with a promise to give the world of Tamriel a fresh look. In gameplay, Elder Scrolls: Legends is a free-to-play mobile RPG, similar to League of Legends, which allows players to create their own heroes with varied builds and use cards to assist them in battle. There are no keys to open chests or shop for new items. Content is free and no item purchase is required to enter the game. The basic premise of Elder Scrolls: Legends is simple. Once you defeat your first dungeon, you will gain a title which you can level up, unlock card packs, and play the game online or offline. Cards can be purchased from the store and unlocked by earning experience and gold by playing in dungeons, as well as collecting them from optional dungeons where you can earn or buy them. The biggest distinction that the game makes from games like Overwatch and League of Legends is the accessibility. So, there is no key to open chests, no shop for new items, no micro transactions for card packs, and no need to watch advertisements to access cards. Players can just download the game or play from their website as they choose without a monthly subscription. Elder Scrolls: Legends presents a large world with many characters and places to discover. For example, you can choose to be one of the Dunmer Elves, as the Empire or the Aldmeri Dominion. You can travel the world from one side of Skyrim to the other and play out the game's story from either faction. The game features a variety of cards like cards with special effects like instants, enchantments, creatures, and spells. These cards can only be unlocked when you enter a specific dungeon and you will have to play the game bff6bb2d33
