Possible Duplicate: How to get reputation points on Stack Overflow? What are the steps to gain reputation points? I am familiar with others SE sites like Superuser where you can gain points just by providing good answers. But I don't know how to gain points here on SO. A: Re-posting questions that have been asked gets you reputation points. High quality questions and answers can get you a lot of reputation points. However, if you can't think of a question or answer yourself, then you're better off writing a tutorial on something, creating a blog post to explain something, or making your own question and providing answers. If you want to create a good question or answer, it might help to take a look at the help pages of Stack Overflow that can provide you with some guidelines on how to make
