BackdoorDB

This is an independent indexer of software backdoors. It was built to be easy-to-use, very fast, and free. No ads or a budget to keep this site running. Over 50,000 software backdoors indexed and added daily. Why is this information useful? With over 50,000+ software backdoors indexed by BackdoorDB, it's simple to perform an instant malware scan and find out if your PC is infected. Let us guide you through the safe removal of malware from your PC. Maintained by an independent team of malware experts, BackdoorDB is the most complete malware index in existence. Instead of just a simple list of malicious files, BackdoorDB also includes a list of software and backdoor utilities - as well as the source code of the backdoor. Cain's Parsing Antivirus We provide free website defenstration tool which can protect your website from a wide range of malware-infected links. Cain's Parsing

Antivirus is the first, only and biggest free website defenstration tool. Randomized controlled trial of high-density lipoprotein and lorazepam for sedation during endoscopic retrograde cholangiopancreatography. Pre-endoscopy anxiety is associated with adverse outcome in endoscopic retrograde cholangiopancreatography (ERCP). This study was designed to evaluate the use of high-density lipoprotein (HDL) as a sedative intervention during ERCP. Patients considered for ERCP at the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development underwent a randomized placebo-controlled trial to evaluate HDL (10,000 IU) compared with lorazepam (1 mg) in the prevention of anxiety at the time of ERCP. Hemodynamics, heart rate, and the incidence of ERCP-related complications were compared between the two groups. Eighty-eight patients (44 to HDL group, 44 to lorazepam group) underwent ERCP. HDL group had a shorter procedure time (median, 42 versus
