For regular updates of the open source program , be sure to go to the open source flashloader project page . We are currently in the process of creating new demonstrations and examples that will keep the flashloader project up to date and going. Introduction This flashloader is free to use for evaluation purposes only. It is intended to work on STM32F10x and STM32F30x family devices. If you cannot understand the instructions, then refer to the open source version and the relevant documentation to determine which tools to use to flash your device. For the example "00000000" on the SEGGER J-Link debugging guide, refer to J-Link tutorial - 7600.pdf . The application is provided in the source code format as an UNPUBLISHED WORK. Any use of the product or of the information contained therein is at the User's risk and subject to the applicable local laws and regulations. The User must supply a valid representation from STMicroelectronics that the User is authorised to redistribute the product and information contained therein.
