Serum generates up to 48 tracks of at high quality audio 24-bit and 64-bit, with multi-effects for both audio and MIDI sequencing. As stated above, Serum, when running in Legacy mode, is a multitrack audio sequencer. There are 24 tracks but you can play each one in 12 iterations to create a 12-note per tracker grid. What this means is that for a Key of C, you can actually play it 12 times in a repeating pattern. A closer look reveals that each note (12th fret) is one track, and the gaps between them (14th to 8th to 15th to etc) are the 12th of each block.
